

Have no fear,
Budget surplus facts prove
There's 200 Billion this year;
People in need
Challenge what you hear,
The Nation needs your votes
And your voices loud and clear;

Read our lips,
The B word is Billion,
In ten years racing
All the way to three Trillion;

People in need
Have no fear
Both Compassionate Conservatives
And Democratic Idealists
Have rhetoric running full gear:
Prescription medicare benefits,
Phased family health care
The fantasy finished New Deal
Was never so near;

People in need
Challenge What you hear,
More than rich tax cuts
Must be spread on the table;
Deficit paralysis
Is a rotting fable—
End U.S. Gulag incarceration
Demand ten percent of leftovers
to revamp education,
Build houses for seniors
And families with low incomes,
Round out the rhetoric,
Allocate desperately needed sums;

Not a single hungry child should cry,
For lack of a pill
No elderly mother should die;
People in Need
Challenge what you hear,
The Nation needs your votes—
And your voices loud and clear.

INTRODUCTION OF RECOGNITION OF THE KING SALMON TRADI- TIONAL VILLAGE AND THE SHOONAQ' TRIBE OF KODIAK

HON. DON YOUNG

OF ALASKA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 12, 2000

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to introduce legislation which will provide for the recognition of the King Salmon Traditional Village and the Shoonaq' Tribe of Kodiak, Alaska. For the past twenty years these two villages have worked with the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Department of the Interior to seek tribal recognition. They have gone through the process at the Department of the Interior and it is now time to grant them recognition.

I have two other villages going through the recognition process at the Department of the Interior, and if at time of mark-up of this bill they have addressed the concerns of the Department, we may include the two other villages from Alaska in this bill.

in India from January to May of this year. It listed 38 specific incidents just in a period of five months. This should indicate the depth of India's religious terrorism against Christians.

On July 8 and 9, two more churches were bombed. The pattern of Indian terrorism against its minorities continues.

It is not just the Christians who are being attacked. In March, the Indian government massacred 35 Sikhs in the village of Chithi Singhpora. This was confirmed by two separate investigations. Some of our colleagues may deny it, but the evidence is clear. This, too, is part of the Indian government's pattern of repression.

This pattern of repression and terrorism must be stopped. The U.S. Congress must take strong action. We should cut off aid to India until this terrorism stops. India should be declared a terrorist nation, as 21 of us recently urged the President to do. And Congress should support self-determination for the people of Khalistan, Kashmir, Nagaland, and all the minority nations seeking their freedom from India. Self-determination is the cornerstone of democracy.

Mr. Speaker, I submit the atrocity list I mentioned earlier into the RECORD for the information of my colleagues.
